PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

The purpose of H.R. 6374 is to require the Department of Homeland Security to consolidate, streamline, and publish the standards by which a contractor employee may be deemed fit to work for the Department and provide status updates regarding fitness determinations. H.R. 6374 enables DHS to provide greater transparency to the contractor workforce, which will, in turn, increase efficiency.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) relies on thousands of contractor employees every day to achieve its mission. From IT services to construction and janitorial services, DHS and contractor employees work hand-in-hand to secure our nation. Prior to employment, DHS vets each contractor employee by assessing the character and conduct of contractor employees in order to make a fitness determination—a decision that a person either does or does not have the level of character and conduct necessary to uphold the integrity and efficiency of the Department.

Currently, the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) sets minimum fitness standards for Federal contractors. However, DHS components vary in how they apply those standards. Inconsistent fitness standards across DHS hinder the ability of components to reciprocally accept another component's fitness determination. Additionally, the current process for a contractor employee to receive a status update regarding their fitness determination is convoluted and inefficient.

H.R. 6374 requires DHS to consolidate its varying fitness standards by creating uniform fitness requirements for each position risk level. By doing so, DHS will achieve Department-wide uniformity and reciprocity of fitness standards, thereby eliminating the need for one contractor to undergo multiple fitness investigations. The FIT Act also reduces bureaucratic redundancies by allowing, when appropriate, the Secretary of DHS to deem someone who possesses a security clearance to also be considered fit to work for DHS. Moreover, H.R. 6374 increases transparency into the fitness determination process by requiring DHS to provide monthly status updates to contractor representatives. The FIT Act provides DHS the flexibility it needs to vet contract workers for its diverse missions, while also making the process to do so more efficient and transparent.

Since the same problems contractors experience exist within the Federal applicant pool, H.R. 6374 also requires DHS to take steps to improve the suitability determination process for Federal applicants and appointees. In this effort, the Department is required to report to Congress on the degree to which reciprocity is occurring for Federal applicants and appointees, and to develop a plan to communicate investigation updates to applicants and appointees.
